- SLO County could cooperate with Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties (and interested cities) in a shared-cost Community Choice Energy feasibility study
- SLO County could work with our interested cities to explore Community Choice Energy as a County

I would recommend both options. Thanks!

RE: community choice energy

Dear Supervisors:
Due to work conflict I will not be in the audience on Tuesday for this item. I whole heartily support investing in working with Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties as well as the other cities in our county to figure out what is most beneficial to us ratepayers. Community Choice was first proposed when I was on the Morro Bay City Council easily 8 or more years ago. That's 8 years of lost savings. Please work expediently on Choice to bring it to fruition sooner rather than later.
Sincerely,
Betty Winholtz

Tomorrow, the SLO County Board of Supervisors will decide whether or not I will be able to choose local clean energy in the future. You will determine the path forward in our exploration of Community Choice Energy. I urge you to do the following when you meet:

- SLO County should cooperate with Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties (and interested cities) in a shared-cost Community Choice Energy feasibility study
- SLO County should work with our interested cities to explore Community Choice Energy as a County Please choose to work with our neighboring counties to the south and explore what a SLO County-only program could do. This option will give us the most information and greatest flexibility to choose a program which best suits us.

Community Choice Energy makes possible:

- Choice & Competition
- Long Term Electrical Rate Stability
- Local Control & Accountability
- Local Jobs and a Strong Economy
- Clean Energy & Local Self-Reliance

Please do the responsible thing on behalf of our residents and vote for Community Choice Energy!

Thank you.
Sandy Simon

The sequence of diagrams illustrates the construction of the number 1000 using base ten blocks. It begins with 1000 individual unit blocks. These are then grouped into tens (10 blocks per ten), then into hundreds (10 tens per hundred), and finally into thousands (10 hundreds per thousand). The final diagram shows a single large cube representing 1000 units.

I want to register my support for item 28 on the October 6 Agenda.
Community Choice will bring local economic growth and job opportunities. It has been very successful in Marin County and other locations for years, and it would be a wise investment to participate in a feasibility study with neighboring counties.

Jackson Family Wines_Letter of Support_SLO CCA.pdf

October 2, 2015

Dear Chairperson Arnold,

Jackson Family Wines has vineyards and wineries in Sonoma and Napa counties where community choice energy programs are currently operating, and in Monterey and Santa Barbara counties where community choice energy programs are being explored. We support the spread of community choice aggregation (CCA) programs across the region along the coast of California where we do business.

We have been a Sonoma Clean Power customer since it launched in May of 2014 because we believe in their charter goals of providing energy with a greener mix while reducing greenhouse gas emissions at a competitive rate, and reinvesting ratepayer dollars back into the local economy. A community choice energy program is good for ratepayers, whether they are residents or businesses, and the community. Who in the county would not desire a choice of energy providers? Fair competition is good for everyone.

Sonoma Clean Power has provided great customer service for our complex operation (including agriculture, commercial and residential meters) and over the first year, we have seen an approximately 10% reduction in our energy bills on a per kwh basis, with the extra added benefit of supporting the procurement of a cleaner energy mix.

We are aware that your Board of Supervisors is considering joining a community choice exploration effort with Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties. Such collaboration is a very efficient and economical manner of obtaining the facts based on real statistics from your tri county area. We encourage the San Luis Obispo County Board of Supervisors make this energy choice possible for its residents and businesses by voting to join Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties in the feasibility study.

Best Regards,
